

Eugene Field's

Views on Ambition and Patriotism.

"Dregeps," wrote Eugene Field, "when investigating a man for his ambition and sometimes extracting the oil of ambition." Through great desire he completed Field's education. Only a son of a man who has developed himself doesn't deserve your food. It needs meat. You can only eat it by the use of a preparation like Dregeps, which is never to worry about digesting your food. Rest soon restores it to its natural taste.
